Alphabet Tracing Cards
D'Nealian Font

As your child is learning the letters, you can let them trace them with their fingers, a marker, or a crayon. The correct starting points and directions are shown in the little letters in the top left-hand corner. My daughter does not confuse "b" and "d" when she is writing them because each letter has a different starting point.

To make letter tracing more fun, you can fine fun ways to give them a bit of texture. Glow-in-the-dark blue is a bit more expensive, but it leaves a bit of texture. You can try white school glue or tacky glue then coat the letters with colored sand, then wait for them to dry. You and your child can create the glue-sand letters together or, if your not quite up for the mess, you can make them by yourself then let your child trace them once they are dry.

You can also just print up the letters then let them color or decorate the sheets.

The keyword pictures are included to help your child to memorize the primary sound that goes with each letter.

The letters here are in alphabetical order. However, DOG ON A LOG Books introduces them in this order:

a, s, m, f, t, n
r, d, c, g o
b, h, l, x
i, p, k, j
u, y, z, qu e, v, w

The traceable letters (except for the lowercase b) and the letters with arrows were all created by DN KidLetter.
http://guindo.pntic.mec.es/jmag0042/kidfonts.html

Copyright ©2019 By Pamela Brookes
All Rights Reserved.
For information, contact the publisher at jojobapress@gmail.com
Public Domain images from www.clker.com

Aa

apple

Aa

Bb

bat

Bb

C c

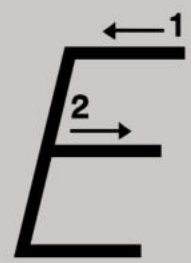
cat

C c

D d

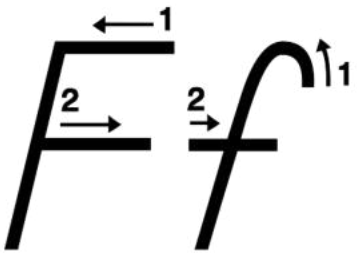
dog

D d



Ed

Ee



fun

Ff

Gg

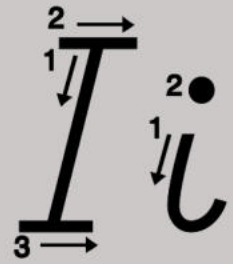
game

Hh

hat

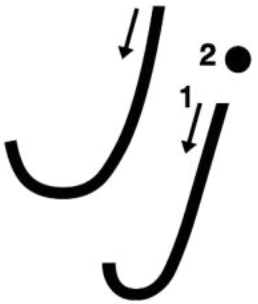
Gg

Hh



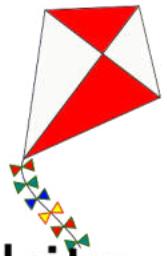
itch

I i



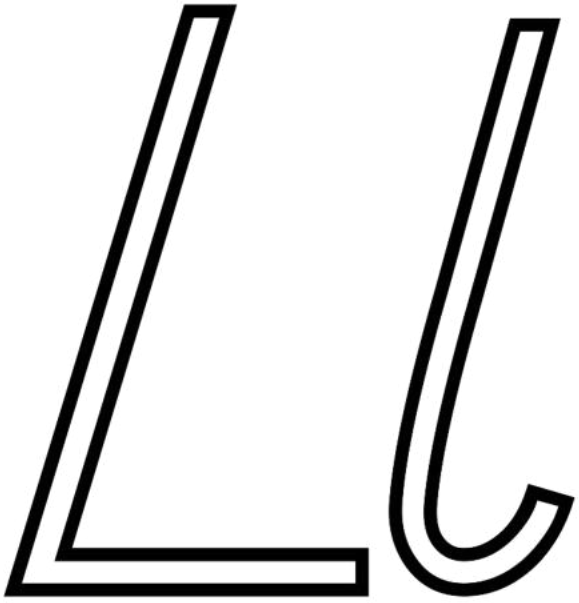
jug

J j



kite

lamp



1 2

Mm

man

Mm

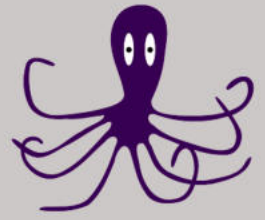
1 2

Nn

nut

Nn

Oo



octopus

Oo

Pp

pan

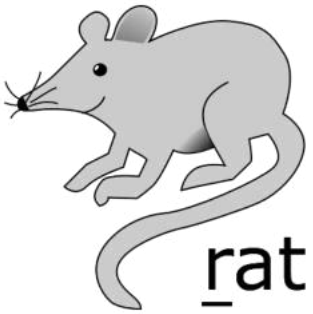
Pp

Qq

queen

Qu qu

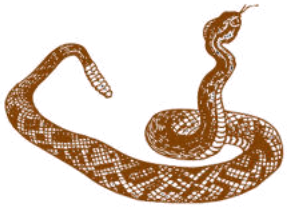
Rr



rat

Rr

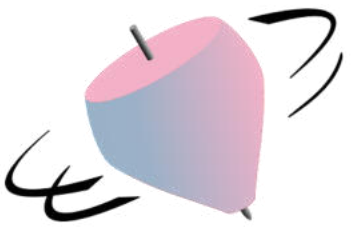
Ss



snake

Ss

Tt



top

Tt

Uu

up

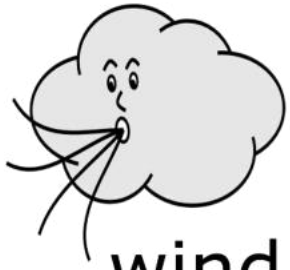
Uu

Vv

van

Vv

Ww



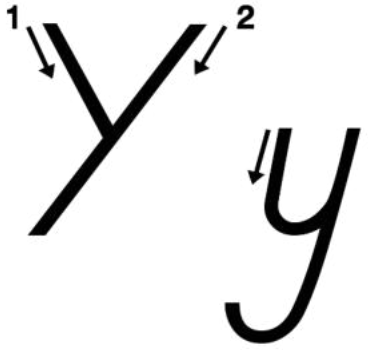
wind

Xx

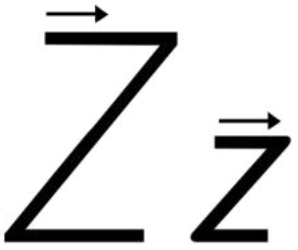
fox

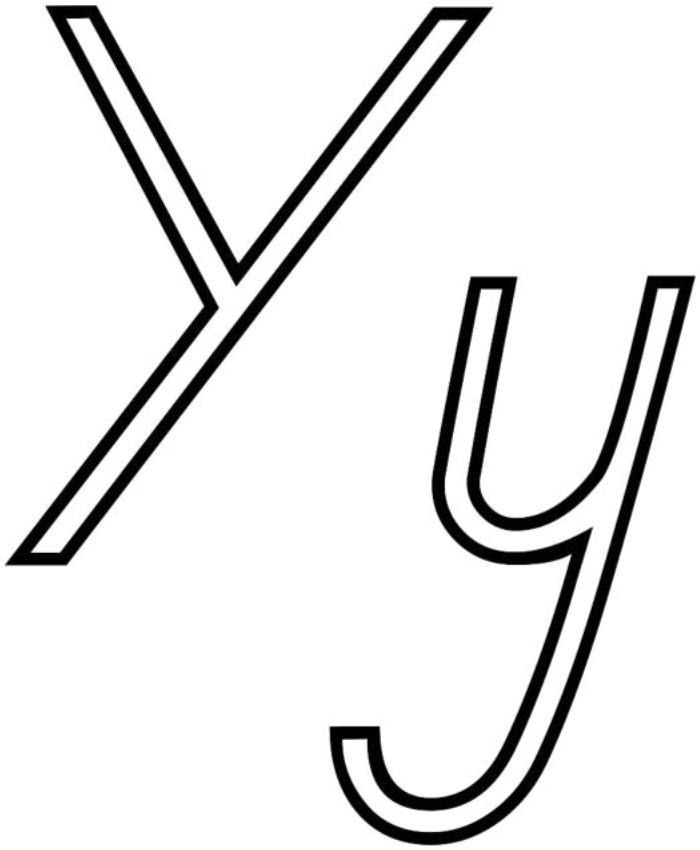
Ww

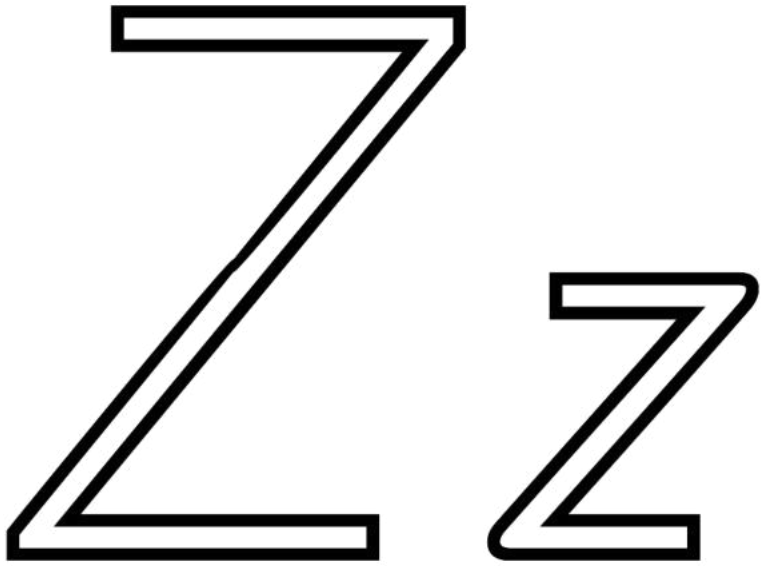
Xx



yellow







zebra